B. Phinizy Spalding Distinguished Professorship in History

The Department of History at the University of Georgia invites applications from senior scholars to fill the B. Phinizy Spalding Distinguished Professorship in History, beginning in August 2016. We are looking for an established scholar with an outstanding record of teaching and research. The successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate students and will train specialists in U.S. History, focusing primarily on the American South. The salary for this tenured position is competitive and the position carries with it a generous research support account. PhD required in history or related field.

Initial expressions of interest should include a cover letter describing your teaching and research interests and a current vita. Letters of recommendation will be requested at a later date. Applications should be submitted at facultyjobs.uga.edu. Review of applications will begin on November 1 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries should be addressed to Robert A. Pratt, Search Committee Chair, at rapratt@uga.edu.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Retirement plan: TRS or ORP.